IROQUOIS
TO SEARCH

NAVAL VESSEL WILL BE DISPATCHED TONIGHT FOR LAYSAN ISLAND TO HUNT WOODBURY.

The U. S. S. Iroquois will depart tonight on a special cruise to Laysan Island in quest of the missing schooner Charles Levi Woodbury. Captain Lyon, the commandant at the Naval Station, received permission today from the Navy Department to order the government vessel to search for the missing schooner which may have been lost while bound from Laysan Island for Honolulu.

It had been expected that the U. S. S. Iroquois would arrive in Honolulu with supplies for the marine guard at Midway and the Iroquois would sail for Midway and Laysan immediately on the arrival of the Iroquois and the transfer of the stores. But yesterday afternoon Captain Lyon was advised by cable by the Navy Department that the Iroquois would be delayed sailing several weeks. He cabled to the Department asking permission to order the Iroquois to proceed to Laysan to search for the missing vessel. A reply to that request was received this morning.

It is likely that the Iroquois would remain away about twelve days. Captain Niblack, her commander, will make a search between Honolulu and Laysan for any trace of the missing schooner and finding none, will proceed to Laysan. The schooner was to the windward of Laysan when last seen, and it is possible that she may have become water logged. She may have returned to Laysan Island. The Iroquois will not go to Midway on this trip but will make Laysan and return, going to Midway subsequently upon the arrival of the stores here by the Iroquois.

DECISIONS IN TAX COURT CASES

THE OAHU COURT SETTLES ALL THE APPEALS WHICH WERE SUBMITTED TO IT.

The Tax Appeal Court of Oahu has handed down five decisions, settling all the cases submitted to it. The remaining cases have not been finally submitted and the court is awaiting briefs from the attorneys. As Deputy Attorney General Prosser, who handled the matter, has gone to Hawaii, there will be some delay. In all the cases decided except one, the court places the assessments at a figure between those of the assessor and the appellant, and in the one case it accepts the assessor's figures.

The Ewa Bottling Works returned its property at $7,000 and Holt claimed it $12,000. The court says that from the evidence adduced it concludes that $12,000 is the proper figure.

In the case of Mary E. Peters figures were $500, the assessor's figures were $800 and the court makes it $700.

Mrs. Eliza S. Wilder returned her property at $20,000 and the assessor placed the valuation at $30,000. The court finds the value to be $24,000.

A. Perry's appeal was from an assessment of $3,500, having returned his property at $2,500. The court finds the value to be $2,700.

The Enterprise Mill Company's return was $7,825, which the assessor raised to $35,000. The court fixes it at $11,325.

KIDNEYS AND HEART
BROUGHT FROM MAUI

Harry Copp, police officer of Maui. They are in jars, inside the flour bag which was offered to Peters, but which Peters declined to take charge of. He told Copp to keep hold of them until he delivered them to the doctors, so that there need not be any question as to the identity of the organs. Copp will be able to testify that the heart and kidneys he delivered to the doctors are the same ones which were delivered to him by Dr. Deas. They may become an element in the trial of Douce.

The organs will be examined this afternoon at the offices of the Board of Health, by physicians representing the government and the Japanese consul. Dr. Macdonald, bacteriologist of the Board of Health, and Dr. C. B. Cooper will represent the attorney general's department.

Deputy Attorney General Peters communicated with the consul upon the arrival of the heart and kidneys and notified him of the proposed arrangements. Doctors Mori and Ushida will attend and take part in the examination. The examination is for the purpose of ascertaining if possible what was the cause of death. Three white physicians on Maui found that heart disease, due to kidney trouble, caused death, while a Japanese physician who took part in the autopsy with them found that while the heart was diseased, the immediate cause of death had been the shock caused by the explosion by which the Japanese was injured. The entire case, as far as a criminal prosecution is concerned, depends upon what was the cause of death, hence the examination to be had this afternoon is of great importance in the case.

RUSSIAN NAVAL HERO IS ABOARD CHINA

YOUNG RUSSIAN WHO RAN BLOCKADE TO PORT ARTHUR WITH DISPATCHES TO CHEFOO.—IS GOING HOME.

There is one very interesting passenger aboard the S. S. China, bound for San Francisco. Lieutenant S. Petroff is his name and he is an officer of the Russian navy. He was the hero of several exciting incidents during the early stages of the war with Japan. He had command of one of the Russian torpedo boat destroyers at Port Arthur. He was very successful in running the blockade of Port Arthur with official dispatches from the Russian command. Lieutenant Petroff ran the blockade on two occasions. His vessel was finally sunk. He was wounded in the side by a Japanese during a fight at Chefoo over the capture of a Russian torpedo destroyer.

M. Goretsseff is another Russian from Chefoo. He has been in the diplomatic service of the Russian government and had much to do with forwarding the Port Arthur dispatches to St. Petersburg.
